Report of this Student Seminar

The seminar on Ancient Indian History was conducted on 22nd September 2023 for first-semester students. The seminar aimed to delve into the rich historical narratives of ancient India, exploring the cultural, social, and political aspects of this period. The seminar witnessed active participation from all 23 students, who engaged in discussions, asked questions, and shared their insights on various aspects of ancient Indian history. The students demonstrated a keen interest in learning about the rich heritage of India and its historical evolution.

The seminar on Ancient Indian History provided a platform for first-semester students to explore the fascinating realms of India's past and gain a deeper understanding of the cultural tapestry that defines the nation. It encouraged critical thinking, research skills, and a holistic appreciation of India's diverse history.

REPORT

A Student Seminar for the Semester 3 students English Honours students was organised by the Department of English on 18th October 2023. A total number of 35 students participated in this Seminar. Apart from the Semester 3 students, the Semester 1 students of the Department had also participated in this Seminar. The topic of this Seminar was 'English Poetry and Human Life'. The objective of this Student seminar was to encourage the students for getting engaged in self study and thus motivate them towards getting interested in the world of Poetry.

The program was divided into two sessions. The Semester 3 students of the Department presented on various sub-themes of their choice. They were facing problems with delivering the presentation completely in English as it has not yet been possible to develop good language speaking skills among the students. They had however interpreted the significance of the topic according to their own reading and surprisingly most of them had different responses to the topic. A student named Piu Chakraborty discussed about the relevance of stress relief through the reading of poetry, Ananya Parya talked about the significance of tales in the form of ballads and legends available through English Poetry. Similarly Nikita Sahani talked about the problem of language and different contexts while reading English Poetry. Various other themes were discussed in this lively session. The newly admitted Semester 1 students also participated in it.

The outcome of this Seminar was that the participants developed a curious and engaging mind to think about newer subjects and thus get involved in self study to some extent. The fear of public speaking was also handled in this lively interactive session. It was indeed a very lively interesting session where teachers and students could interact with each other beyond class hours.
