REPORT:

A one day Sensitization and awareness program on the topic of 'Menstrual Health and Hygiene' was organized by the Gender Cell of Turku Hansda Lapsa Hemram Mahavidyalay on 8th March 2019 in collaboration with the IQAC to focus on the health impact caused by lack of menstrual hygiene among young girls and women. A total number of 30 female students of the College had joined the program and 6 female teaching members were present in this program. Mrs. Oendri Chatteraj was the invited speaker of the event. It was conducted in the vernacular to bring clarity in the discussion.

The major objective of this program was to empower the participants with the right kind of knowledge about the issue. The program also handled the misconceptions about menstruation and health issues related with it.

It was able to make the young girls participate through an informative discussion in which all the present female faculty members also took part to share their experiences with the girls. The speaker emphasized on the necessity of maintaining proper hygiene and sanitation during this particular phase through the usage of medicated sanitary napkins and by following the proper disposal method. The speaker instructed the participants about the proper use of the sanitary napkins. They were also instructed to consult doctors if they had been experiencing any abnormalities during their menstrual phase at any stage.

The outcome of the program was quite interesting as after a certain amount of attention given to the topic, the girls began to speak up on their concerns about the issue. It seemed that there were many unaddressed issues regarding the different kind of menstrual problems in their lives and the speaker along with the other teaching staff tried to find answers for their concerns as much as possible. The sensitization and awareness program was indeed a successful event .

Report of the Programme:-

UNDERSTANDING INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY RIGHTS IN THE MUSIC INDUSTRY AND PROTECTION OF MUSIC UNDER IPR LAW

Speaker: Dr Reba Das

Assistant Professor, Department of Bengali, THLH Mahavidyalay

26/04/2019

In commemoration of World IPR Day, the IPR Cell in collaboration with IQAC organized a Special Lecture on Intellectual Property Rights on 26/04/2019 at 12.30 p.m. in College smart Room. 20 students along with member of the Cell presented there. Intellectual property rights and protection are usually associated with corporate and business environments; it also has an important role to play for creative in the entertainment industry.

Musicians, singers, and producers earn money through sales of the music or merchandise. Other than these, they can also make money through live performances and tours. The role of intellectual property rights comes in because it is easy to copy and sell music. It is not uncommon to find piracy in the entertainment industry, and even more so in the music industry.

In intellectual property rights, there are three things that are usually discussed the most: copyrights, trademarks, and patents. In the case of music, patents are not relevant. Copyrights and trademarks are of importance, especially copyrights, since they have a very major role to play for the artist's earning.

Copyright protection is extremely important for any musician. Copyright protection protects the sound and the written work of the musician for the lifetime of the owner of the copyright and then an additional sixty years after the owner's death. In the case of a group of owners, the sixty years are added after the passing of the last owner.

Copyright protection includes books, songs, poetry, sound and video recordings, and more. For music creative, this is extremely important. It serves as a proof of ownership and prevents producers and musicians from being robbed of their own work. Intellectual property rights awards artists' security against others copying their creation. The work cannot be copied unless the musician or the recording studio authorizes it. Distribution and broadcasting is also done with the permission of the composer and serves as a source of revenue. Authorization must be obtained to use the composition for works like movies.

Trademark protection is the protection of a design, a phrase, or even a word. Trademark protection can be very useful to protect logos and brand names. Musicians often use logos on their albums and their merchandise. This makes trademark protection necessary for them. In order to be able to use a logo or design as a trademark, it must be used enough times to be easily associated with the musician.

It is very important for musicians and producers to understand intellectual property in order to ensure that their work is protected. This is what enables musicians to earn money from their own works, either in the original form or in altered forms. Even though it may seem tedious to get into the legal aspects of the music industry, it is necessary for musicians to make informed decisions in order to ensure they are not taken advantage of.

Without doubt, one of the elements that contributes to any artist's success is the team that supports them. It is necessary for an artist to ensure that a music attorney is a member of this team. An experienced lawyer, kept well-informed about all dealings at all times can be a huge asset to an artist. They can ensure that all contracts are negotiated effectively and help build a well-informed team.

Our lawyers understand the media and entertainment sector from a technological and commercial perspective. We offer vigorous and knowledgeable IP procurement, leadership and enforcement strategies in addition to straightforward, commercially focused advice that is suited for a highly dynamic environment.
